Bio

I'm Kathryn Bobb, a curvy and athletic model who embraces vitality, confidence, and authenticity in every project. At 35, I bring a unique perspective to modeling-rooted in a passion for health, fitness, and wellness that fuels not just my lifestyle, but my approach to fashion and self-expression. Standing 4'11" with a strong, curvy silhouette, I celebrate beauty that is real, vibrant, and empowered.

My journey in modeling is intertwined with my entrepreneurial background, having worked extensively in branding and marketing for my own wellness and beauty products. This experience has strengthened my professionalism and understanding of visual storytelling, making me a collaborative and adaptable partner in creative projects.

Whether modeling apparel, accessories, or lifestyle campaigns, I aim to deliver energy and poise on camera while staying true to my authentic self. Above all, I strive to inspire those who have felt compelled to silence their own voice, hide their true identity, or dull their shine-to embrace their uniqueness boldly and express themselves without apology.

I value opportunities that allow me to connect with brands and creatives who appreciate diversity, athleticism, and a holistic approach to beauty. As I continue to grow my portfolio and expand my presence, I am excited to bring my passion and professionalism to a broad range of modeling opportunities. Together, we can create images and stories that inspire confidence and celebrate unique beauty.
